Students make use of school store during lunch.

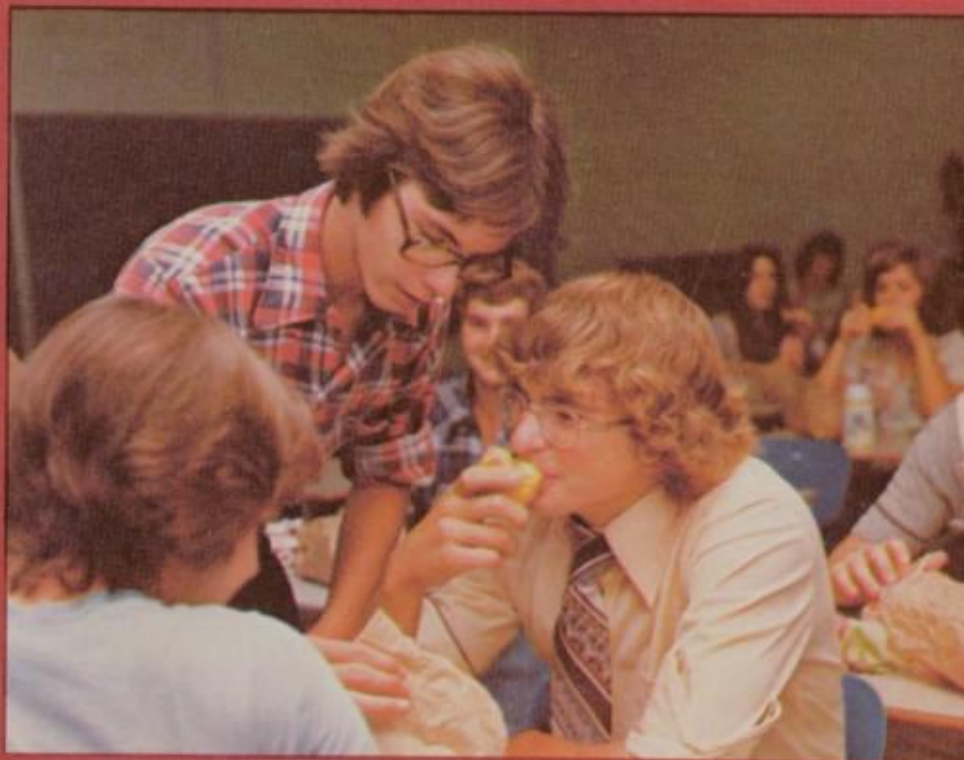

Mr. Jim Bestwick introduces football team at the pep assembly.

Jim Teglo even finds fun collecting the garbage.

Key Club gets down to business.

Ron Prizant checks out Gary Kapusta's lunch.

Jan Stottlemeyer takes a bow at the pep assembly while her teammates look on.

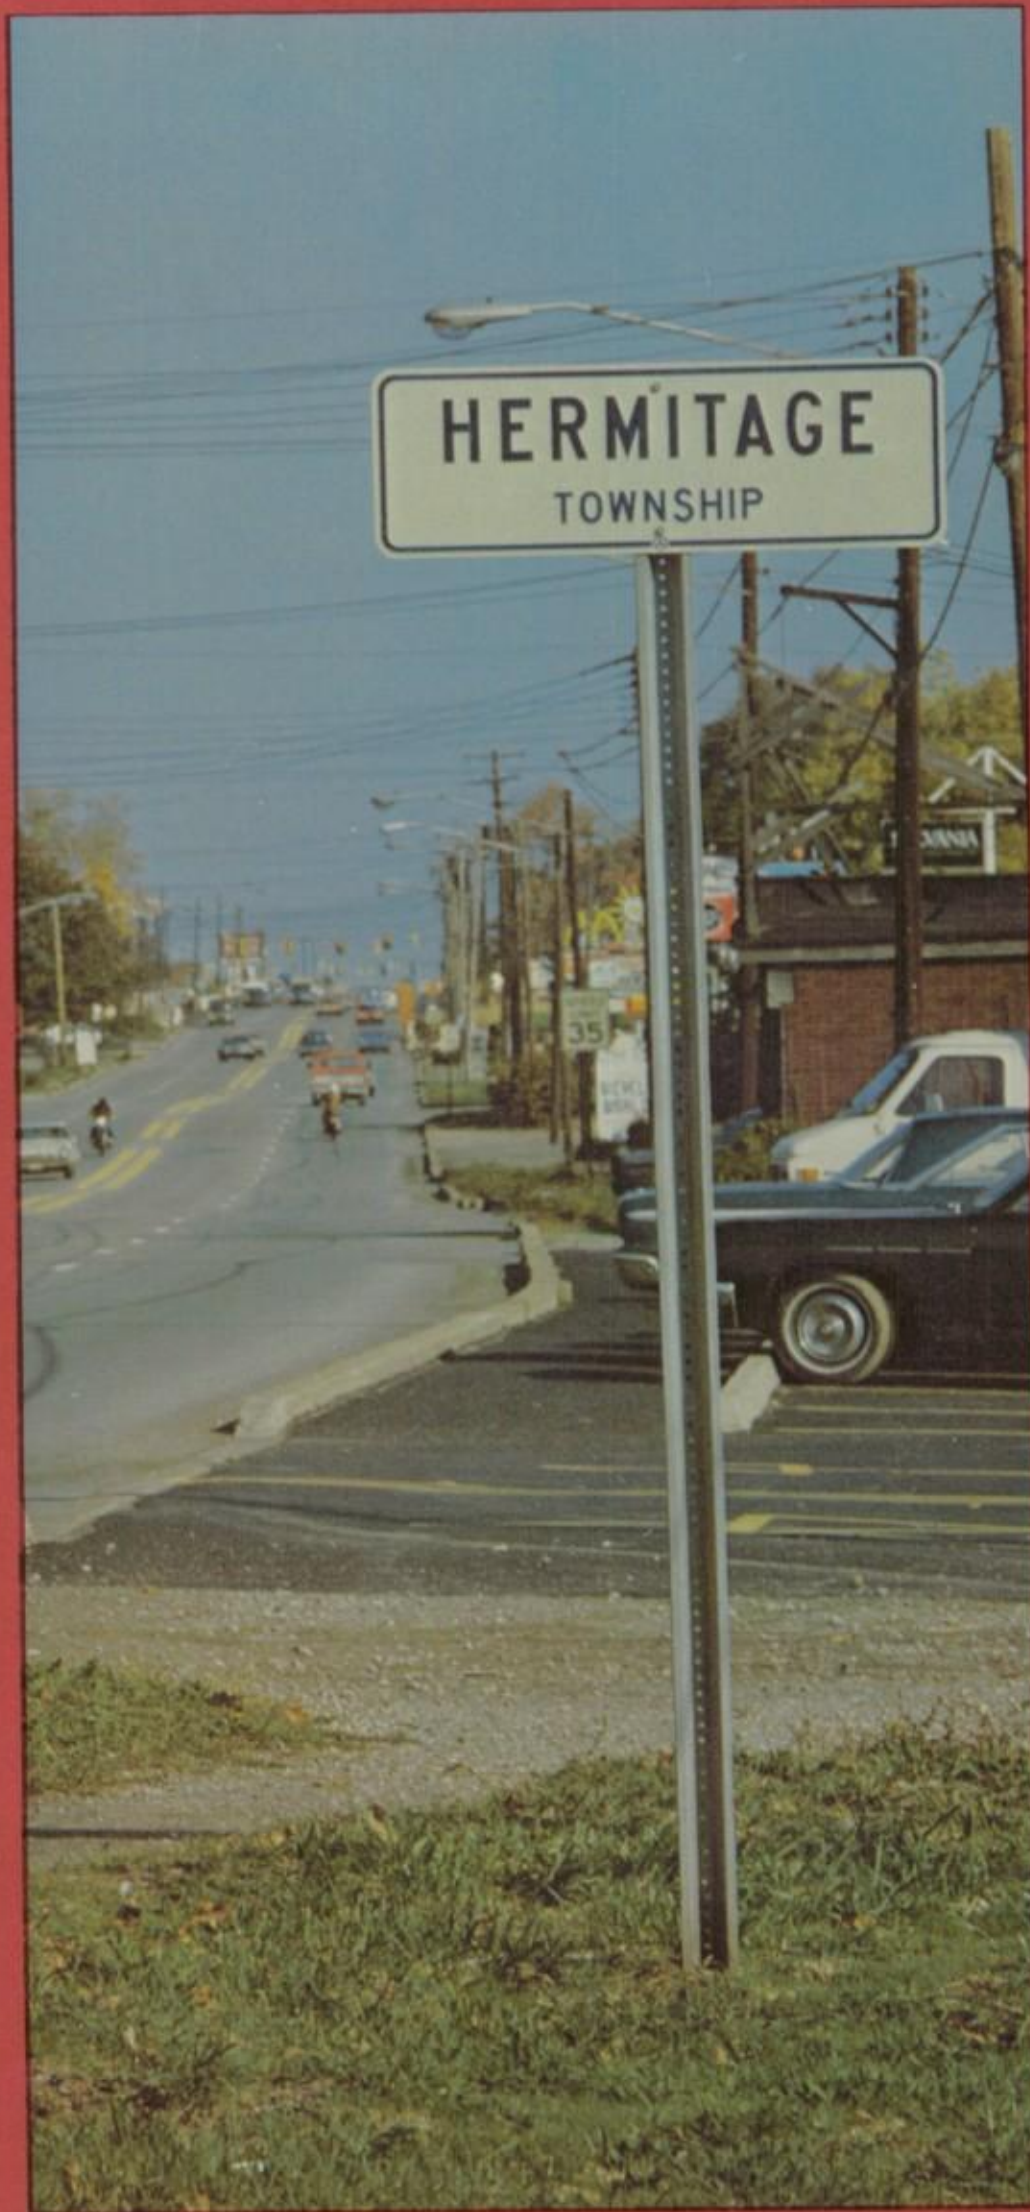

Taking It As It Comes . . .

With fewer teachers, many mailboxes remain empty.

The Bicentennial fountain stands in front of the Hermitage Municipal Building.

A change in signs helps residents get adjusted to the new name for the township.

After re-routing traffic, tearing up and widening the road, the new North Buhl Farm Drive was worth the wait.

Brian Szabo and Steve Obici try out the vending machines.

Change . . .

it's everywhere. At Hickory High students discover themselves face to face with it. This year there were fewer teachers, causing curriculum cut backs. Sophomores were excluded from English electives and some social studies electives were dropped. The township was renamed, and students got a sample of cafeteria life via the vending machines. Although there were only three minutes to get to class instead of five. There was more free time during lunch.

Some students find these changes hard to accept, but there are others who are happy with them. Whether they like the changes or not, students realize that part of growing up is taking it as it comes. Then there is . . .

Challenge . . .

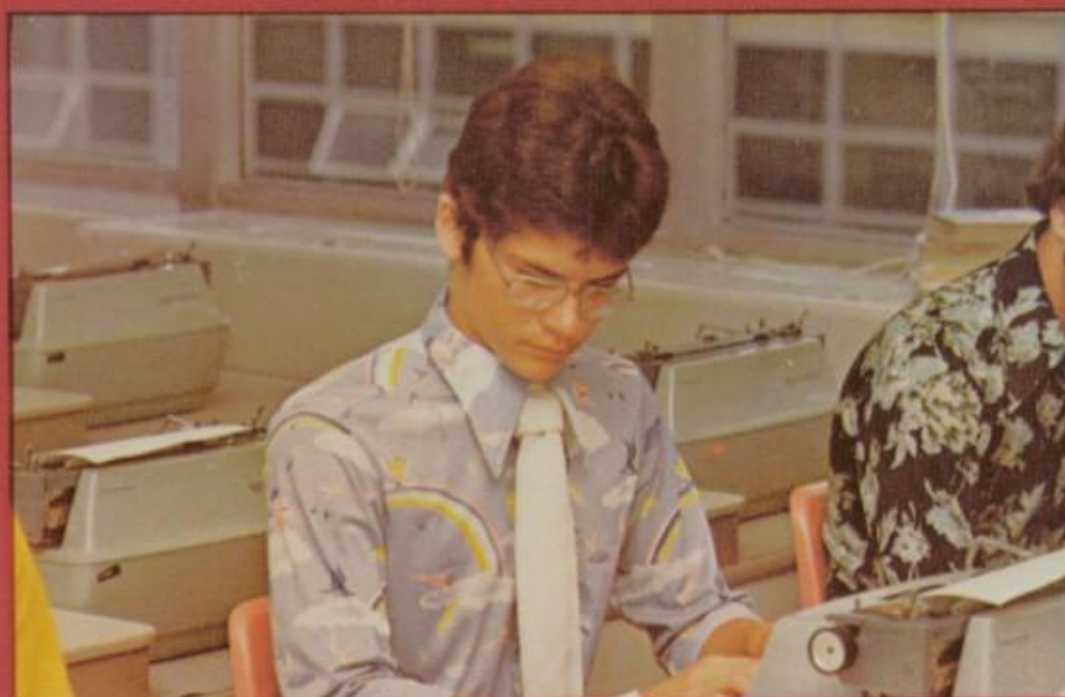

that comes with each new day. As the day unfolds it contains new adventures and problems, as well as the desire to overcome and be victorious. Students learn to take each challenge as it comes. Students strive to overcome difficult classes while teachers face the task of making education an interesting and pleasant experience; athletes practice long hours to help make their team number one. They suffer sore muscles, sprains and bruises with the outlook that the pain isn't nearly as bad when the team wins; challenges are faced by teams as well as . . .

Mr. O'Mahen and students take a break from math class.

Mr. Charles Mangus demonstrates the potter's wheel for Ed Metrick, Jack McDowell, and Linda Wright.

Tim Ruffo concentrates on his typing.

Bruce Taylor and Don Kelly learn how to can in home ec.

Hornet band performs pre-game show.

Kathy Turuck listens while Miss Ruby Gaiser gives her advice.

Boys get help from the Man upstairs.

Sign encourages team to meet challenge.

Jim Steklachich, Bill King, and Mike McCright answer health questions.

Individuals . . .

which make the school unique. Everyone has different ideas, emotions, and beliefs. Hickory tries to provide courses and activities that will satisfy everyone's needs and are flexible enough to withstand the changes. Some choose to be leaders and participants, while others find they would rather be observers. Whatever a student chooses to do, he plays a vital part in the ever changing . . .

Scott Young and a friend enjoy lunchtime.

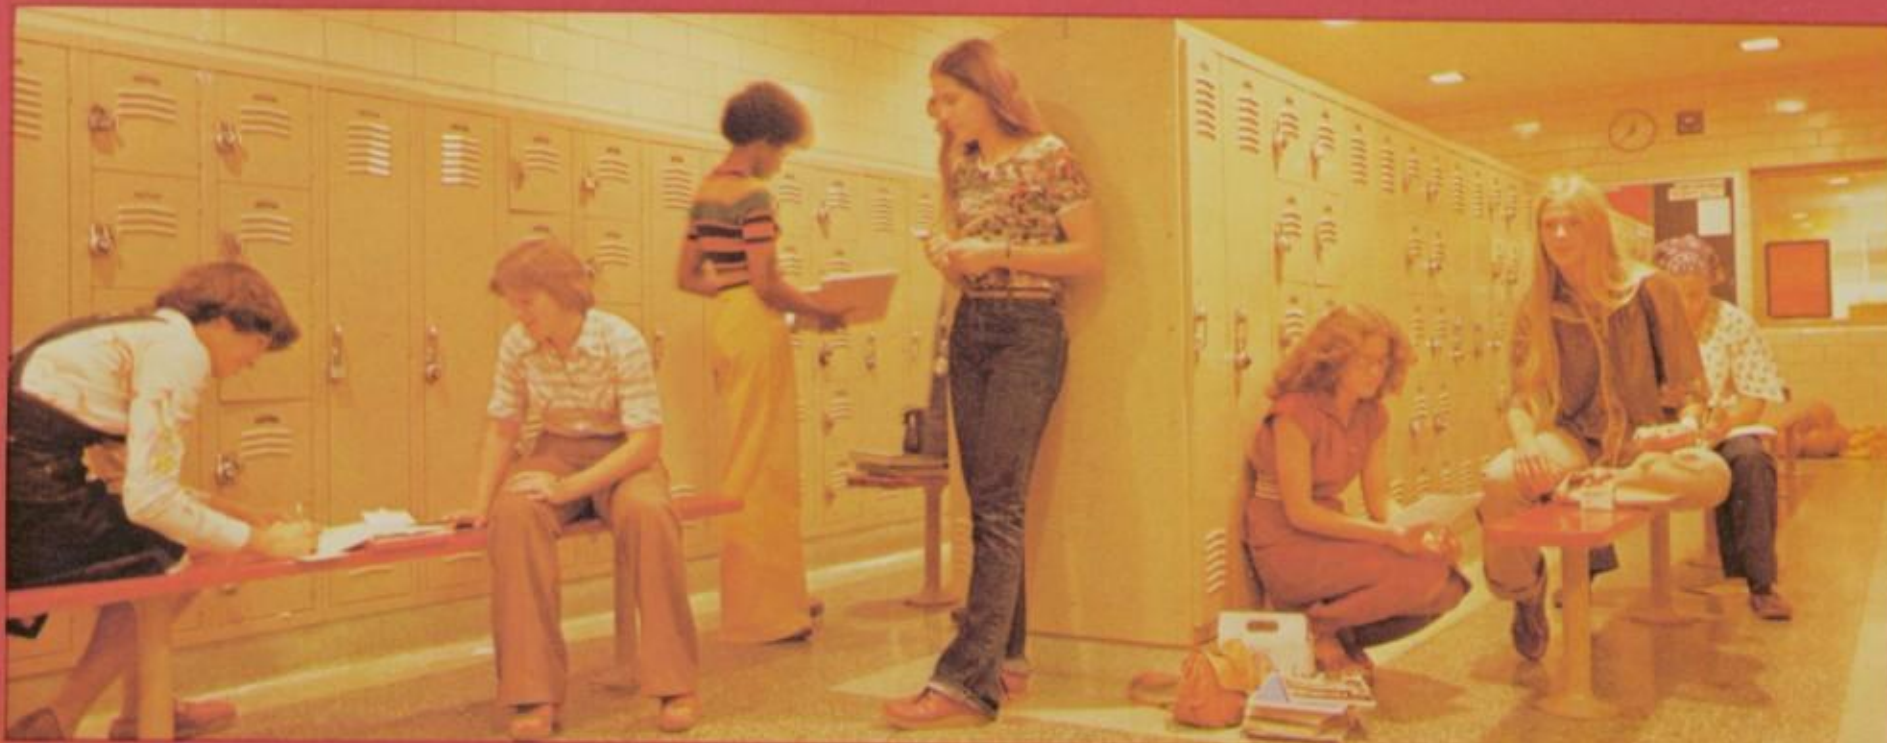

Basses work on intonation in choir.

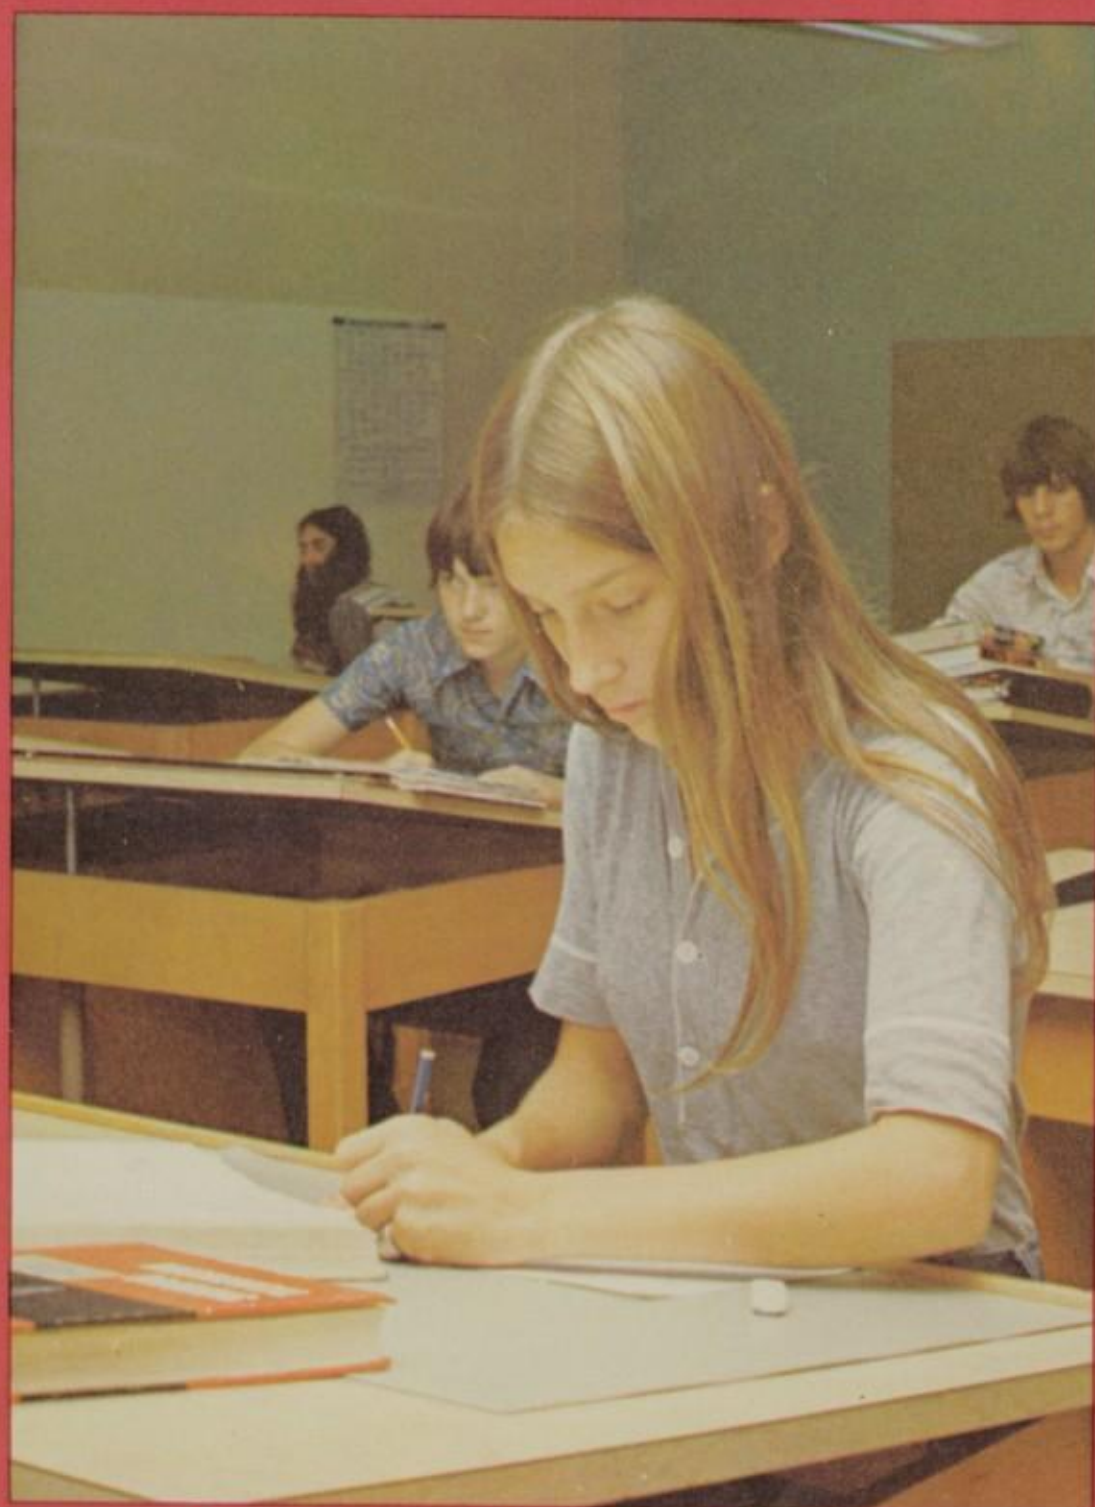

Jim McClusky is absorbed in his test.

Kathy Graham plays with determination.

Girls spend lunch break in locker room.

Mechanical drawing keeps Karen Barovich busy.

Vicki Frye studies while acting as hall monitor.

Nancy Lackey diligently practices her music.

Student Life . . .

The JV cheerleaders eagerly await their turn.

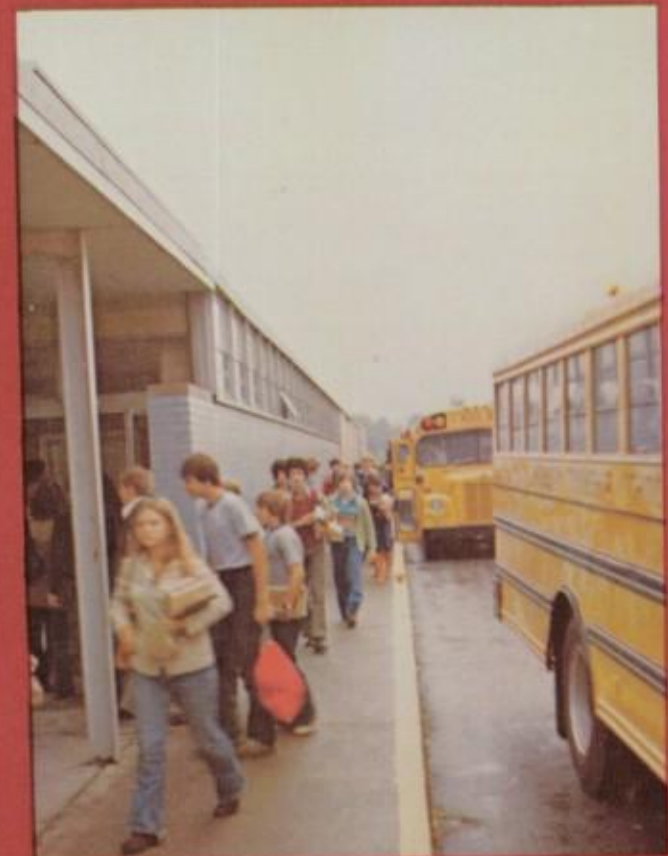

The school store provides "MUNCH" for students at lunch time.

Natalie Djakovich and Cindy Stewart look over year-book captions.

Mrs. Janice Johnson offers guidance to George Koren.

Students leave their buses to start another day.

Students socialize enroute to class.

Students hurry with only 3 minutes to get to class.

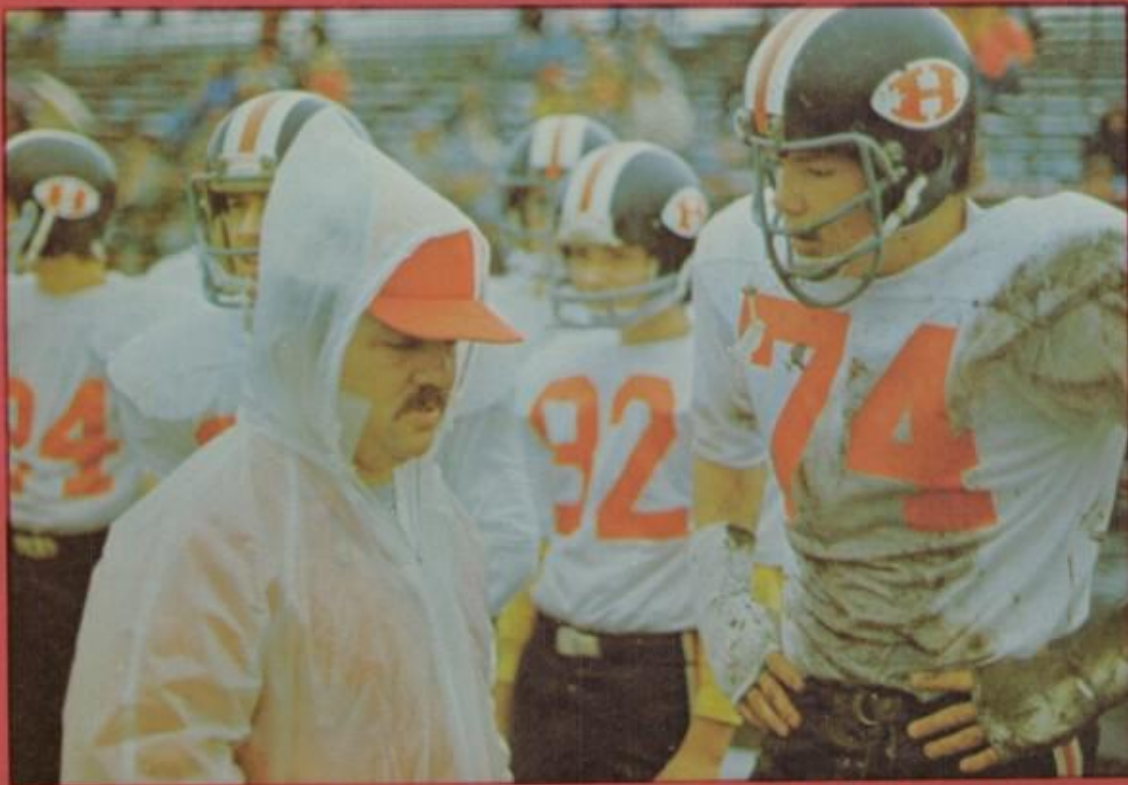

Mrs. Dorothy Fike prepares to read the morning announcements.

Mrs. Shirley Morrison and Amy Amundsen collect milk money.

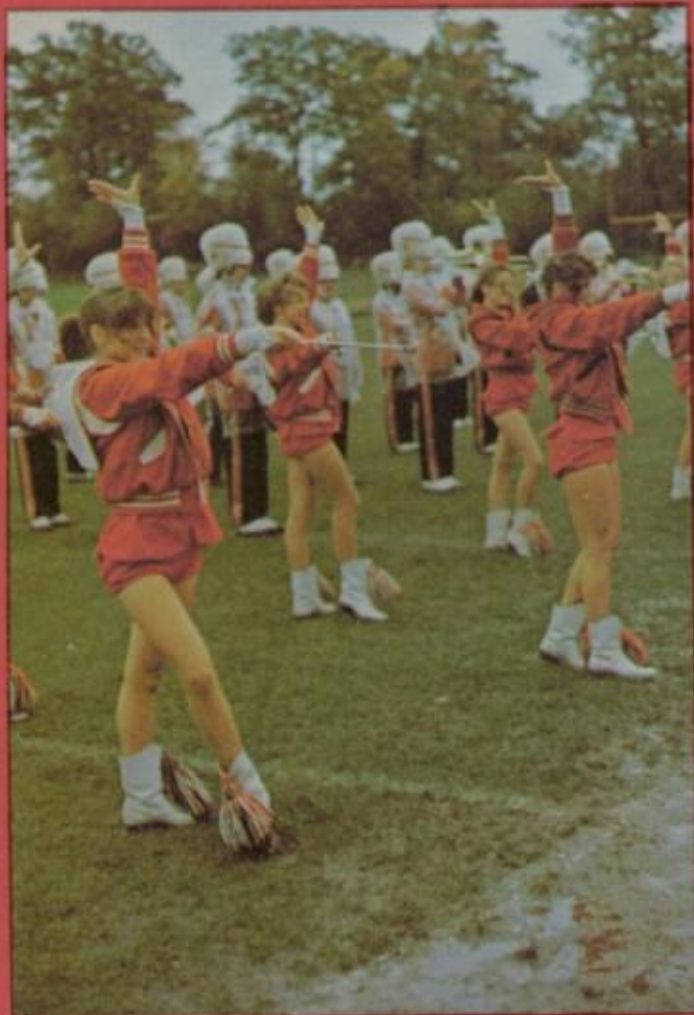

... the force that brings students together. Each student has at least one thing in common with other students—they are each a part of this school and what it stands for. They all are brought together under one roof and try to find a place for themselves. They all try to learn to take it as it comes.

Coach Frank Stratiff discusses a play with Don Riggins.

Hickory Band performs, rain or shine.

Majorettes perform on a wet field.

Real fans sit through the worst weather.

Hornets warmup before the game.

MAL, TO A REAG HOMOSEXUAL TICH. REMEMBER ALL THE FUN TIMES WE'VE HAD. REMEMBER ALL THE TIMES I HAD TO WALK YOU HOME CASE YOU WERE LOOED. I'M SURE THIS SUMMER AND THE MANY MORE TO COME WILL EVER BE WILDB. MAYBE SOMEDAY I'LL TEACH YOU HOW TO FISH CORRECTLY. AFTER THAT WILL CATCH A COUPLE G FAKS OR SOME FINE LOVABLE SKOAL. OR MAYBE WE'LL EVEN CATCH SOME WILD WOMEN AT VA. BEACH. LOVE ALWAYS

Brian Szabo breaks through the hoop.

Despite cold weather, the majorettes and band still perform.

Some students find each day is a dull repetition of the one before. Others, however, look at each new day with excitement. They believe that it's an adventure. These students know their efforts will be rewarded-whether it's an A in Trig or a victory for the team. Each day is . . .

Unique . . .

twenty four hours never lived before. We hear the popular saying, 'Today is the first day of the rest of your life,' 'Live each day as if your life just began,' and 'Live for today,' but how many students take this advice to heart? How many realize that life can be a rewarding experience if we settle down and take each day as it comes? If we are sensitive to the needs of others we soon forget our own problems. We find that sometimes

Students prepare to board the Vo-Tech bus.

Randy Gilliland and Doug Young take a break from school to play monopoly.

Sue Schwab gets help from Pat Zolnier in making master.

Randy Wilcox works on his water color project in Art III.

Faces Tell It All . . .

A frown, a smile, or a bewildered look can often speak louder than words. Students learn to take their friends moods as they come. These expressions tell how they feel about something, whether it's a homework assignment, a teacher, or fellow student.

Bill Wilcox takes some time from mechanical drawing class for 'serious' thinking.

Mrs. Virginia Snyder starts her class.

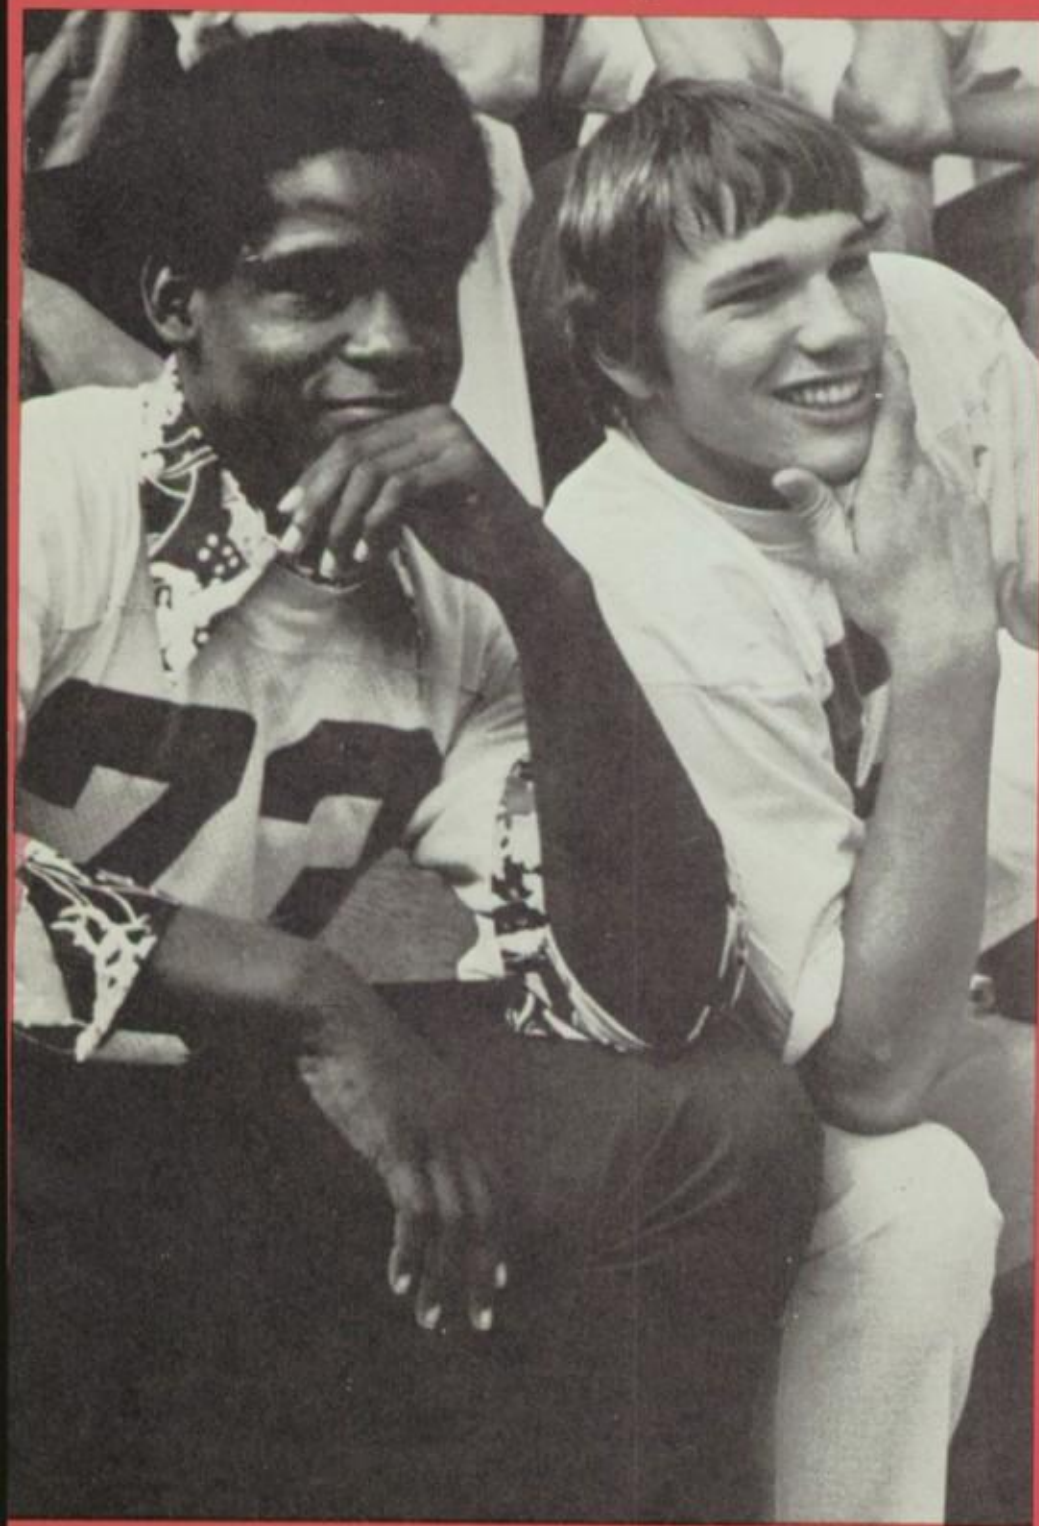

Carmen Phillips and Harry Staul 'ham it up' for the photographer.

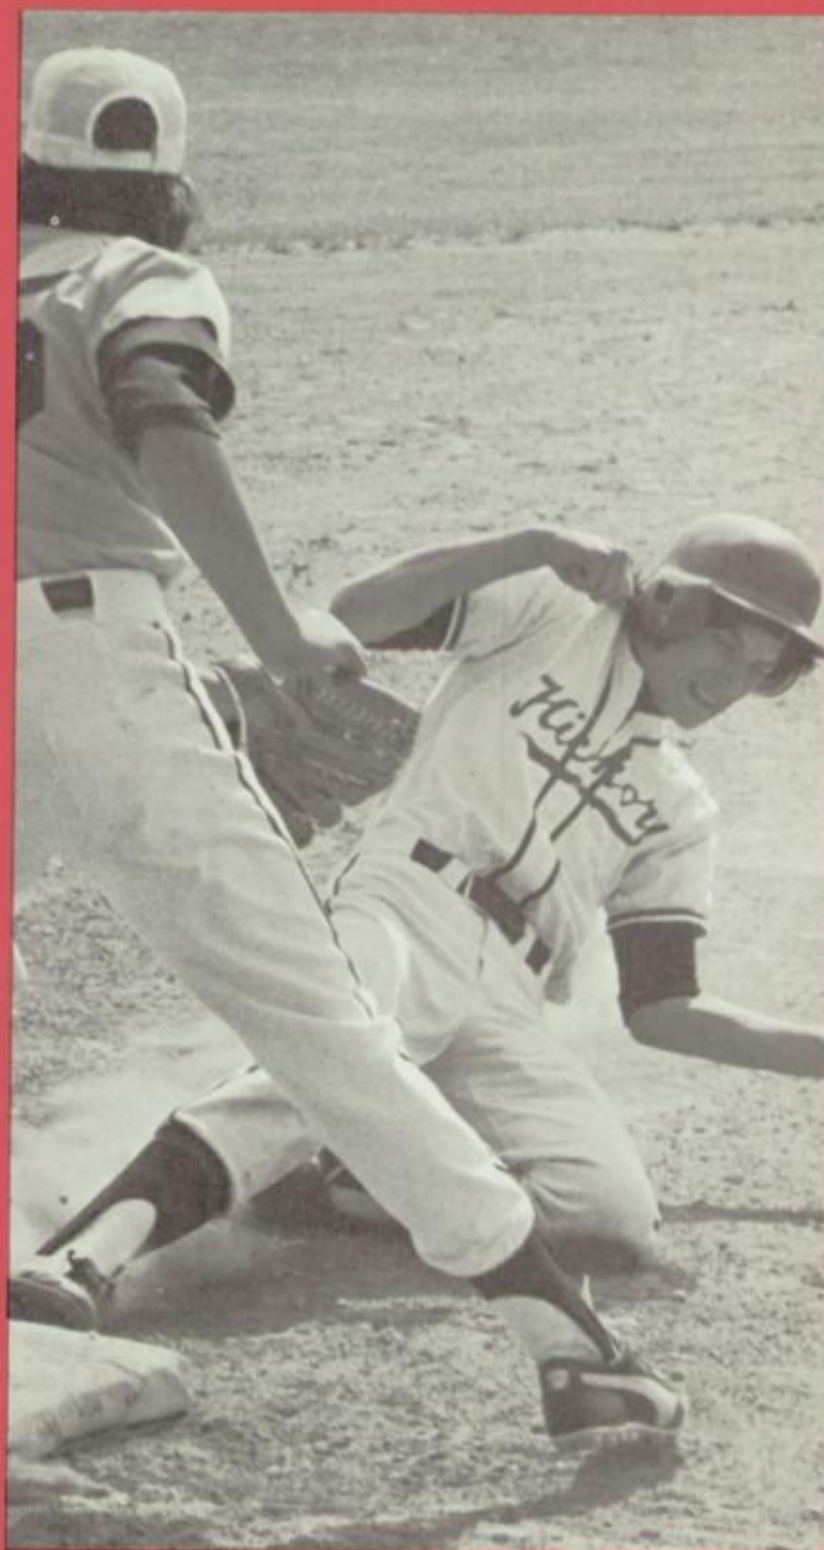

Denise Ceremuga screams with excitement as her name is announced as Homecoming Queen.

Mark Cornthwait dreams his class away.

Bob Pegues and Dan Vasil look pleased at the Pep Assembly.

Bill Osborne slides into third base.

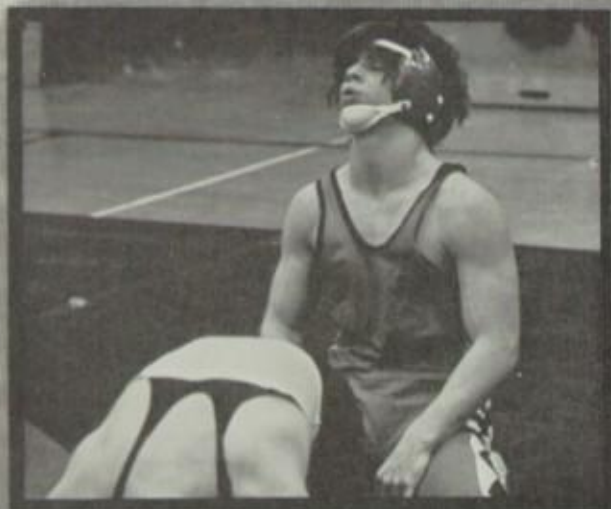

Kevin,

You may be considered a wild, crazy person which you are but you are also a nice kid which is concerned in other people. You also are an excellent student in Trig with Mrs. Layla. Even though you didn't play much basketball, you did show dedication which is a sign of good character. Good Luck at PSU SVC and in everything else. God Bless Determination is the key word in anything a person attempts. It holds true especially in sports. Even a person with a lot of ability won't improve if he doesn't keep striving for a higher goal, and the person with only a little skill is bound to benefit by practicing a lot. Being an athlete means learning how to "roll with the punches," working together as a team, and realizing that it IS how you play the game that counts.

Sports

Cindy Solyan perfects her floor routine.

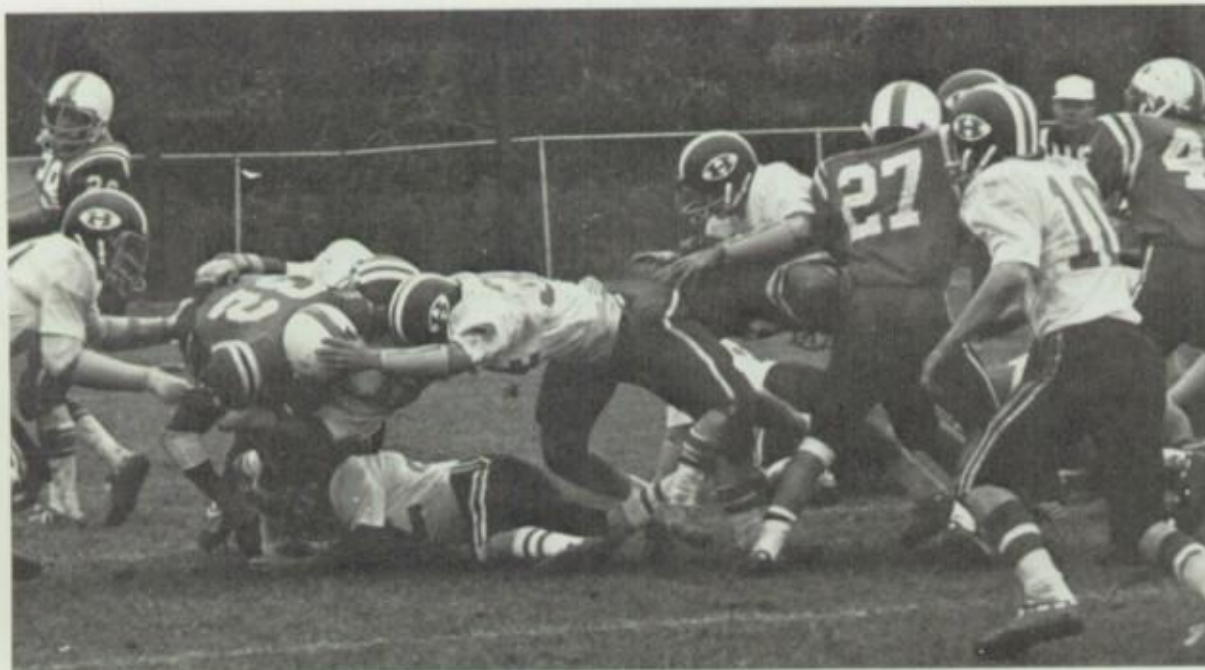

Cheerleaders wait for the "Mighty Hornet Team" to break through the banner.

Determined cross country runners don't let snow stop them.

Mercer County Co-Champs

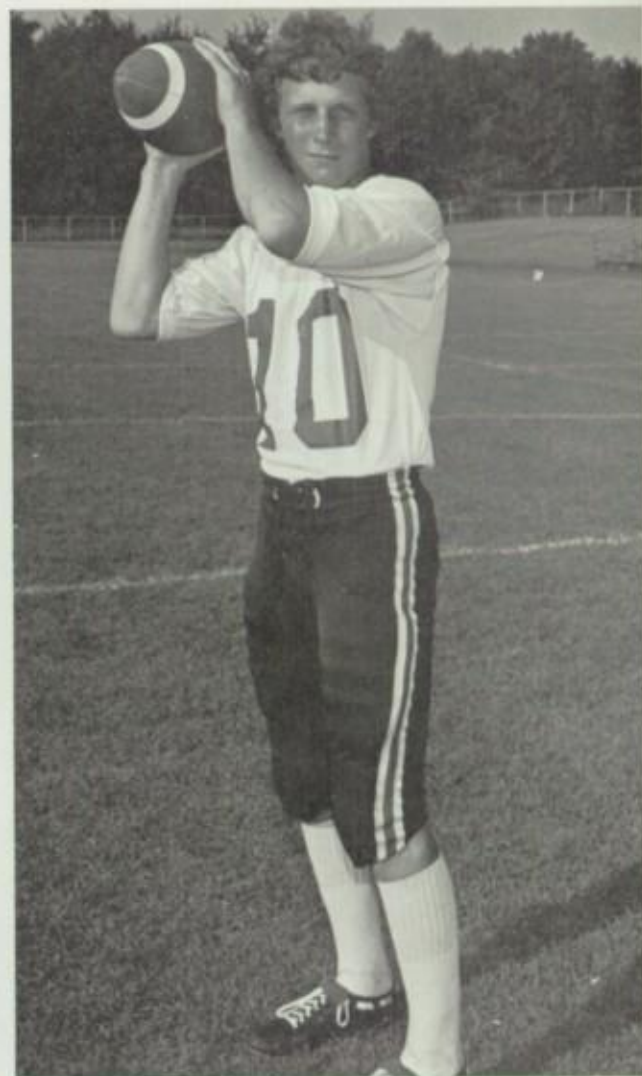

Sharpville's halfback seems to have a bit of trouble with Hickory's tacklers.

John Vasconi (10) slips away from a very unhappy Sharpville tackler.

"Ah! Ya did it. Now you're gonna get it!" This football cheer was used more this year than ever before because of INJURIES! From dislocated bones, broken arms and ankles, torn ligaments, and even an appendectomy, these injuries severely took part of the Hornet team. These injuries started back in August during summer practice sessions. The team practiced hard in summer's heat preparing themselves. On the practice field everyday by 9 a.m. to work the day out in double sessions, the boys knew it was worth it to be part of a team trying to retain the Mercer County Co-Champs title. Even through all the misfortune, a spirit of determination and hard work set the Hornets out in to the 1976 season determined to be Number 1!

Mercer County Co-Champs two years in a row! That is exactly what the 1976 Hornets did. Led by Head Coach Jim Bestwick the Hornet gridders tied with Sharpsville to share the County Football Crown with a 3-1 county record. Also a second place finish in the Northwest Conference with a 6-2 mark showed the talent, spirit, and aspiration the team had. They put it all together for one of the finest seasons for Hornet football players, coaches, and fans.

With the first victory over Titusville, the next two games were dropped to Reynolds and Warren. The team went on to win six out of their next seven games. "Exciting Sweet" victories came over Meadville when the Hornets pulled victory away with less than a minute on the clock; and an 8-7 win over Sharpsville brightened Homecoming spirits. The final victory of the year came over the Kennedy Christian team, in which the Hornets regained the "Crown of Hermitage" by defeating their biggest rival in a very emotional game for the senior gridders.

Boys Track Team Is Off And Running.

Limited personnel and injuries to top performers kept the '76 Hickory track team from a winning season. A very small turnout for the team made Mr. Bill Moder's job in taking over the position of head coach even harder. Bob Habel, '76 and Jim Herrmann, '76, were injured part of the season, adding to the Hornets' troubles. However, toward the end of the year the team picked up wins over Mercer, Sharpville, and Commodore Perry, and Habel, Dennis Pinch, '76, Steve Wolanin, '77, and Steve Yereb, '78, went to Districts. Habel won the District X 880 yard run, and came in 6th at the State championship. A new school record of 6' $\frac{1}{2}$ " in the high jump was set by Bill Banas, '76, highlighting his high school career. The team had a record of 3-6, with Coach Moder assisted by Mr. Doane Bailey, Mr. Vernon Mook, Mr. Phil O'Mahen, and student teachers Dave Brubaugh and Jim Romano.

Girls' Track Sticks It Out Till The End

"Ready, up, over, together, over, together, down, and relax."

Hearing these words could mean only one thing—girls track is underway. The girls got off to a slow start losing their first 2 meets but the track team ran to victory in their next 3 meets. The girls spirits were high to beat K. C., Hornets' biggest rival. The meet was close the whole way through, but they fell short of a victory. The team was coached by Miss Sally Ward and Miss Sally McKown who found the season to be "very productive."

Summer Practice Helps Golfers' Season

"It was a close struggle the whole way through try out competition," stated Ed Metrick. Coach Barry Wooten made his final selection and the team was ready for a victory filled year.

Playing teams like Greenville, Grove City, Sharpsville, Kennedy Christian and West Middlesex, the team came out with a 7-4 record. Players expressed their opinions by saying, "Our toughest competitions were Grove City and Greenville, but we're confident we can handle them next year."

Since the new system of golf has gone in, playing matches in spring and tournaments in the fall, Coach Wooten feels his golfers will do better in the tournaments due to the fact that they have had all summer to practice.

Ability and Effort Prove Worthwhile

Prospective players are seen on the field getting in shape, sprinting, hitting, warming up their muscles. The 1976 baseball season is about to begin. Under new head coach Thomas O'Brien and assistant coach George Dzuricsko, the Hornets played to a 7-5 league record. Retiring lettermen Dick Becker, Kurt Brautigam, Brad Rollinson, Mike Vath and Harry Warner contributed their talents to the Hornet team during season play.

For the first time in Hornet history, four players were asked to try-out for the Pittsburgh Pirates. Although it was not during high school play, Chuck Goodwin (3rd base), Chuck Neil (2nd base), Brad Rollins on (pitcher) and Harry Warner (center field) did go to Pittsburgh.

Cross Country Team Gets New Coach

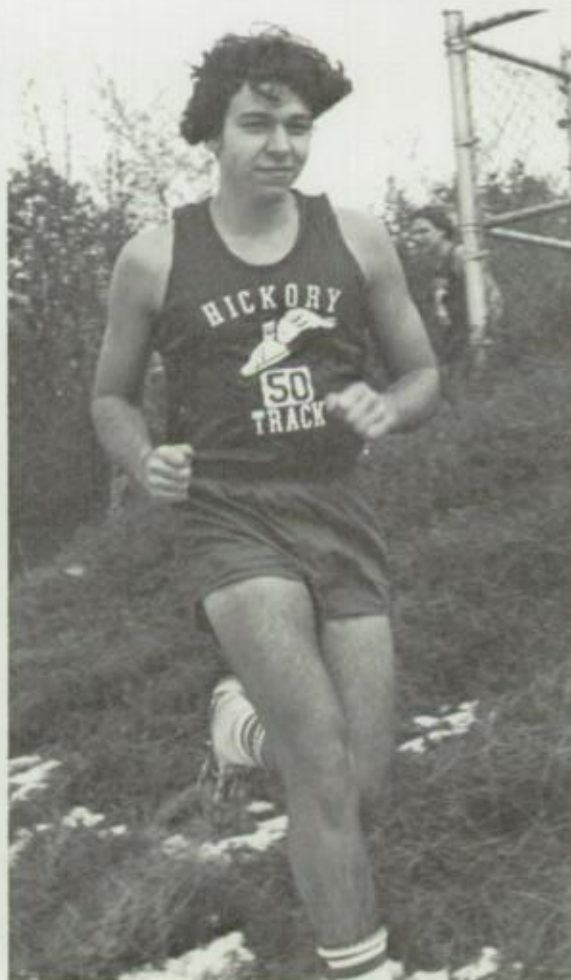

Tony Mastrian, coach

Mr. Tony Mastrian toils over the position of coaching the cross country team. The season had a successful start with a 26-31 win over Oil City cheered on by a large half-time crowd at the football game. The team, being riddled by injuries had a season record of 6-11. At the county meet Steve Yereb took 9th for the Hickory Varsity team. For the J.V. team, Roger Grahm took 3rd and Chris Clune took 10th. In the girls' competition Sandy Grahm took 2nd. At the district meet Hickory came in 10th. Steve Yereb took 25th, running in his barefeet when his Adidas Intervals got stuck in the mud. In the girls competition Sandy Grahm came in 2nd again. Sandy also qualified for the State competition at Penn State and came in 41st.

Success Comes From Teamwork

"We're No. 1, second to none" and "On to state" were two very popular cheers shouted by Hornette fans throughout the season. Many exciting games highlighted the year, but one in particular seemed to mark the peak of their hopes. It was on October 26 against Hickory's greatest rival, the Lakeview Sailorettes, and the result of the game was a victory for the Hornets. They went on to capture the Mercer County Championship and the first place trophy in the Grove City Tournament. The trophy in the tournament was won by sheer determination and one point in overtime. Recognized players from Hickory named to first team, All-Tournament were Jan Stottlemeyer, Val Gibbs, and Barb Hartsy. Barb was also chosen Most Valuable Player. Setting their goals high, once again the Hornets hoped to go on to and win the State Championship.

Gas Shortage Affects Basketball Season

The season was an uphill climb for the Hornet hoopsters, coached by Mr. Steve Garay, starting with the Kennedy game on November 27. They ended with a 1-3 pre-season record, and finished 7-4 in league play. They also captured first place in the Grove City Tournament over Christmas vacation.

The energy crisis created several problems for the roundballers-for a short period of time, games were played directly after school, and AA teams were dropped from the game schedule.

A tie for the section title was broken when Warren defeated Hickory, but the Hornets had a thrilling victory over Meadville, earning the right to enter the playoffs for District 10.

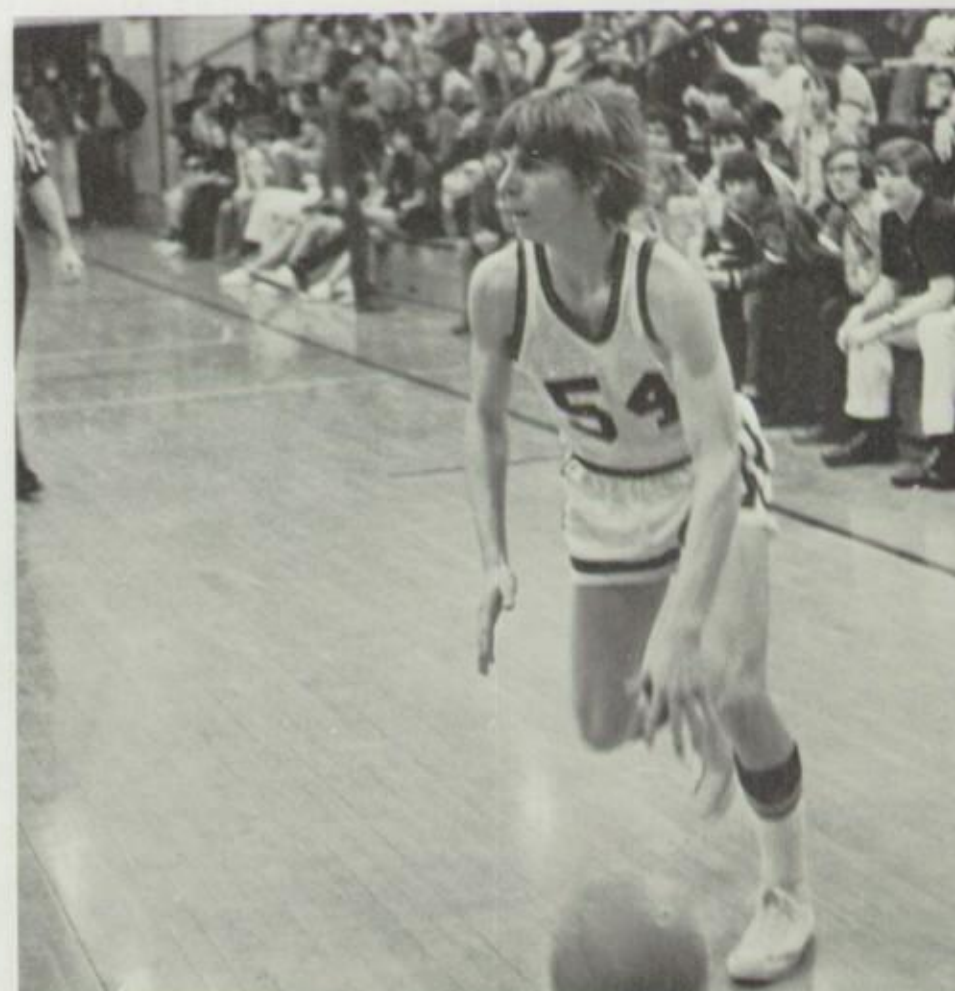

The J.V. squad compiled an overall record of 5-10, and was coached by Mr. Phil O'Mahen.

Finishing the season with a 7-0 record in their district, the girls, coached by Mrs. Mary Reynolds, junior high gym instructor, had an outstanding second year. Hard work and daily practice gave the team the form and the grace necessary for a winning season. Many of the girls, some of them competing in more than one of the four events, balance beam, unevens, floor, and vaulting, went on to perform at the District meet in Edinboro. Returning lettermen who assisted in the success of the season were Michelle Bogner and Cindy Solyan, co-captains, Renee DeLise and Tammie Rotz.

Activities

What would high school be without its activities? If students were expected to learn only from books, school life would fast become a boring routine. Nothing would brighten up the day. But because students become involved in clubs, musical organizations like choir and band, and attend dances, they have the opportunity to learn from each other. School is meant to be more than just a place to learn the chemical equation for carbon dioxide, the decimal approximation for the square root of three, and what novels Nathaniel Hawthorne wrote. It's also a place to prepare one for life and the changes it brings — activities can help a student to achieve this.

“Curious Savage” Delights Audience

John Patrick's, The Curious Savage is a comedy which revolves around a kind, wealthy, but somewhat eccentric elderly woman named Ethel Savage. Her children put her in a sanatorium because they feel she isn't capable of handling her financial affairs. While there, she becomes friends with the other residents, each who has his own peculiarities, problems, and fantasies. Mrs. Savage scheme to keep her money from her selfish children make for a lot of humor.

Rehearsals for the senior class play lasted 5 weeks. Mrs. Joan Walker directed the play; student director was Sherri Somich. The set was designed and constructed by Mr. Albin Wester and Mr. Charles Mangus. During the two nights of the performance senior art students displayed their work in the hallway and foyer.

Band Plays in D.C.

Washington D.C. provided the year's highlight for the band. After raising money all year, on June 4 the band traveled to the capital as part of the Western Pennsylvania Band Festival for a Bicentennial celebration. Each band performed as individual concert during the weekend, and then gave one mass concert on Saturday night at the Washington monument Reflecting Pool. They were directed by Colonel Arnald Gabriel of the U.S. Air Force.

While in Washington the band toured the Smithsonian Institute, the Capitol, the White House, and other landmarks. Many were impressed by the Marine Dress Parade.

Tradition Broken! Juniors Rent-A-Prom

How does the junior class take the gym complete with bleachers and basketball hoops and turn it into 'Stairway to Heaven'? By a lot of hard work, that's how! In addition to making some of the decorations, the class 'rented-a-prom.' Much of the decor was furnished by Pasquerelli of Youngstown. Led by officers Emil Koledin, Sue Schwab, Sue Rutherford, and Ron Prizant, the class sold ice cream and magazine subscriptions to raise money. Decorating began several days before the dance with the ceiling and stairway crews working many hours into the night securing wires and steps. Mrs. Sherry Leyde, the class advisor, was always around to lend moral support as well as a helping hand.

Stairway to Heaven Becomes a Reality

A walk through the blue curtained archway, and instantly couples were transplanted from Hickory High School to a world highlighted by a "Stairway to Heaven" in the center of the room. Senior class president Lew Voisey and his date, Janice Matzel, led the march into the 1976 Prom. After the opening flurry of taking pictures and seeing friends "all dressed up," the attending couples settled down to the business of dancing. Centerfold set the mood, playing music of all kinds, from polkas to soft rock.

When the break before after-prom was over, those who were left helped themselves to a midnight smorgasbord set up by the parents. Blue Ash provided the music next, and during breaks there was a raffle and old-time movies were shown in the auditorium. The magical night lasted until 6 A.M.

Student Council's Efforts Pay Off

The annual Homecoming Dance and Bonfire kept every student council member occupied during the first few months of school. Through an entire student body election Denise Ceremuga was announced 1976 Homecoming Queen and Natalie Djakovich, senior attendant. Student Council built up a bonfire on school property, but it was burnt to the ground. Student Council was informed that it couldn't rebuild it on school property so the bonfire was built and held on Moore's farm on Valley View Road.

The Homecoming game was triumphant for the Hornets as they pulled off an 8-7 victory over Sharpville. Spirits were high with victory still ringing in the air as couples entered the dance. Denise and Chuck started the dance with music by Menagerie.

Winter — Through the Eyes

Beauty of the school on a cold winters' night.

Snow . . . Snow . . . there were so many of those little white fluffies floating around this winter. With all the snow and the sub-zero temperatures resulting in a natural gas shortage, the area schools, including Hickory, were forced to close their doors for two weeks at the end of January. The climate not only shut the schools down but it put an end to the basketball games and wrestling matches usually held in the evenings. The games were rescheduled to be played directly after school in order to save heating the gym after school hours. However, this only lasted for a few weeks. Senior Tri-Hi-Y president Sandy Bressler also announced Sweetheart Ball originally planned for February 14 would be postponed to March 5.

Senior Class Presents 'Gramercy Ghost'

The senior class play, "Gramercy Ghost", under the direction of Mrs. Alyce Parrish and Mr. Don Struck was performed on December 3, 4, 1976. Mr. Struck belongs to Playhouse 600 and is also a substitute teacher.

Auditions were held in the auditorium and selections were based on voice projection and acting ability. Mrs. Parrish decided to double cast the play allowing every cast member one night to perform on stage. This was advantageous because more people were given the opportunity to participate in the play itself. Rehearsals were scheduled in the evenings, therefore not interfering with other extracurricular activities.

Music Department Gets New Addition

New to the instrumental department this year were the sax quartet, clarinet choir, and stage band. Under Mr. Ronald Marenchin's direction, the stage band played for the Mercer County Hall of Fame banquet, and participated in clinics and competition. The brass ensemble performed at many church and civic affairs. "The real purpose for these small groups is to give each student a chance to play as one individual on a part," Mr. Marenchin said.

In addition to these groups Mr. Marenchin also directed the pep, concert, cadet and marching bands, while Mr. John Murcko conducted the orchestra. The marching band participated in five community and two college parades and the pep band added an extra touch to the assemblies and basketball games.

Color Guard goes through a routine.

Majorettes are the highlight of marching band and football games, and pep assemblies wouldn't be complete without them. Tryouts, summer sessions, many hard hours of practice, and endless routines are all part of being a majorette. This year there were no senior majorettes so the three junior majorettes divided up the games and each one was in charge of three routines.

Color Guard, this year, consisted of 11 members with only one senior. Led by Mr. Ronald Marenchin, they provided much entertainment for the crowds at halftime.

Choir Members Improve Self-Discipline

Preparing for choral concerts and working on fund raising projects were part of Concert Choir's activities. The choir sold stationary, candles, submarine sandwiches, and magazines, and worked on other projects to raise money for their large goal . . . a concert tour through England in June. Practicing after school and at lunch and working on cutting tapes was required to go to England and continue the choir's reputation.

Sophomore Chorus Develops Skills

Changing male voices is always a problem for the Freshman and Sophomore Choruses, but eventually the voices stop changing and singing becomes easier. During their sophomore year, chorus members put to use the fundamentals that they learned the previous year. Much work is done preparing them discipline-wise as well as voice-wise for concert choir. Sophomores also helped the choir with their fund raising projects.

Freshman Chorus Learns Fundamentals

Sopranos use reverse thinking.

When they move up to the high school, freshmen are subject to a lot of changes. One of the new things they experience is a different chorus director. Mr. Groves works with the freshmen. He teaches them the fundamentals of singing, like using their diaphragm and dropping their jaw. It takes practice, but the effort pays off.

Hickory Nut Cracks Open Another Issue

One word that always starts the yearbook staffers working is "deadline." There are pictures to be taken and developed, stories to write, and captions and headlines to be thought up. Team work is essential. Each person must do his job.

Meetings were held every Wednesday after school at the "Nuthouse," as it is affectionately called. Mr. Walcott served as the yearbook advisor, and watched over the staff's work. Yearbook sales were held in October. The stereo record "Sounds to Remember," an added option to the yearbook, was sold in the spring.

Bleacher Bums Add Spirit to Games

School spirit is an added ingredient to make school fun and the Bleacher Bums seem to have a lot of fun. They cheer the team on when the rest of the crowd is silent; they like the players to know that they're appreciated. Their enthusiasm is catchy; if a person can't yell over the spirited Bleacher Bums, they can always join them!

*Keep up the good work
Kevin & Virginia Snyder*

The main goal of this year's Math Club was to take a field trip to Penn State at University Park. For fund-raising, pizza was sold at basketball games. The Math Club also had a tutoring program set up to have members tutor students having difficulty in math. The club sponsors the National High School Mathematics Test for juniors and seniors, and math award is given out by the club for the high scoring senior in math.

Projects Keep the Science Club Busy

The purpose of the Science Club is to increase the awareness of students to the impact of science in today's society. It also tries to create a greater understanding of how science may be used to better the world.

This year's club projects were to explore as many models of energy as possible. A solar furnace was built. The club also planned to explore nuclear, geo-thermal and wind as well as common fossil fuel energy.

The Library Club, advised by Mr. Hazi, kept the library in top shape along with enjoying themselves. They had various money raising projects in order to buy needed materials, have parties, and hold their annual Senior Banquet at the end of the year, honoring the graduating club members.

NHS Donates to Heart Association

The National Honor Society, a club in existence for seventeen years, participates largely in the fund raising drives for many charitable organizations. It's composed of senior students with a 3.0 average or better. The groups major fund raising project was Apple Tag Day last fall. They collected over $200 which went to the Heart Fund. The club then sold bicentennial mugs and plates to help pay for the fountain in front of the Municipal Building. They also planned to help the teachers with the annual antique show.

Business Jobs Prepare COE

First-hand experience taught the girls in Cooperative Office Education that holding down a job requires hard work. Taught by Mrs. Mary Kulusich, the girls typed, transcribed, and filed their way to an on-the-job training station. The time for the training stations this year was changed from the last six weeks to the last nine weeks, giving more time for the students to learn from actual experience.

Stories written, then vari-typed, pictures taken and developed, and headlines composed and counted to fit the copy were all of importance in reaching each deadline of The Leaf. During the first semester the school newspaper was published every three weeks. In the second semester the paper came out weekly and a main issue came out monthly. The Leaf is advised by Mr. Frank Stratiff. In November, some of the staff went to the PSPA convention and received the Keystone Award for the 1975-76 school year.

Nominees for homecoming queen anxiously await for the winner to be announced.

The main goal of every junior class is to put on the Junior-Senior prom in May. Class officers Greg Mazanek, Lisa Brown, Melissa Magula and Lynda Booth started the year with a class meeting. Sallie Stano and Jeff Greenburg were elected prom co-chairmen. The prom theme was chosen as "A Midsummer Night's Dream." The class colors were picked Navy Blue and Lavender and class motto, "The past is gone the future is up to us." Prom committees were set and everyone's hard work and organization were put together May 27, the evening of prom.

Money raising was harder for the juniors this year through the loss of ice cream sales. Since the vending machines were installed, junior had to stop selling ice cream. The class then sold records, tapes, and magazines. At basketball and wrestling matches popcorn was sold. Through all these projects, enough money was raised for the Prom.

The first day of school for a freshman usually means knowing what experiences lie ahead, but not knowing how to cope with them. For most first-year students one of these experiences is getting lost. The upperclassmen are renowned for guiding the newcomers towards a room or a wing that doesn't even exist. In spite of the trials of the first few days, most of the FROSH live through their first year and look forward to their next year with anticipation. However freshmen are not left out of everything. They are well represented in the Student Council, and such sports as football, cross-country, basketball, wrestling, and of course, academic work.

Freshman Chorus does warm-ups.

Mr. Carmen Phillips comes in for another repair.

The faculty of our school has learned to take things as they come. The administrators had a trying year - the snow presented quite a problem. They had to take each day as it came and contend with the energy crisis. With several teaching positions cut, many teachers were faced with larger classes and bigger workloads. They still managed, however, to make education interesting as well as fun. Many gave up their time to advise clubs and coach athletics - they showed students that teachers are human and that they are concerned.

Seniors

Being a senior is many things to many people. It's looking back and ahead at the same time. It's taking the changes as they come. This year the senior motto was "I am not afraid of tomorrow for I have seen yesterday and I love today." If a student's last year of high school goes well, then he usually thinks his twelve years of school were worthwhile. Besides learning, preparing for college or a job, a senior year can be fun.

I've been through 12 years of education—learning not only from books, but from people and my mistakes as well. I can still remember the first day of first grade, and now here I am a senior! I'm excited about what the future holds—but scared and sad at the same time. All these kids I've grown up with, been through so much with—what will happen to them? I'll miss seeing them after graduation, so I don't want to take them for granted now. Help me to get the most from each day I spend at this school—help me to live each day the best I can.

Seniors Anxiously Await Graduation

It has been a state law for years that all students must be provided with 180 days of school, but Hickory seniors have always been released a few weeks before the underclassmen get out in June. However, this year the school board began enforcing the law. Therefore, the seniors must complete their final year along with all the rest. They were disappointed after looking forward to getting out early, but could only take it as it comes.

Sports Highlight

Final Year

For some seniors, sports are the most important thing in the final year. Many years of hard work, training, and challenge are coming to an end. They will also leave behind many friendships nurtured through working together as a team. Some will go on to compete in college, but for many it is the end of their involvement in competitive athletics. They cherish the last home game, the last practice, the last time to wear the uniform. There is a distinction in being a senior athlete, and being looked up to as a leader.

Co-Ed Gym Classes Prove Interesting

It looked like we had never seen the opposite sex before on the first day of co-ed volleyball. All the guys stood on one side of the gym, while the girls told their friends, "I wish my gym suit fit better!" But after the games got under way, the guys did find out that some girls can really play volleyball, and the girls got used to having guys around who took the game seriously. Bowling should prove interesting, too—even though my average is 80!

Upperclassmen Look To the Future

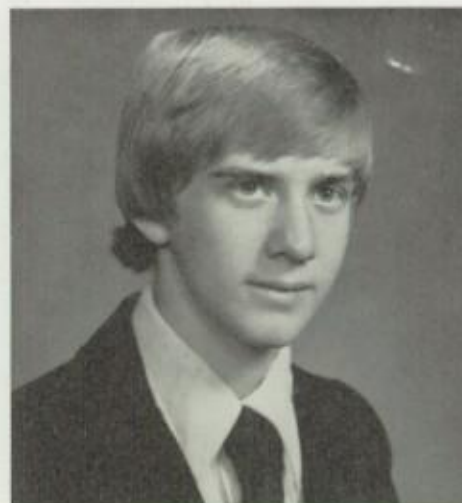

The seniors have reached a point in their lives where the past is indeed behind them, and there has never been such a future ahead of them. It is a time of self-evaluation and many decisions. Although they know not what lies ahead, this year's graduating class expressed no great fear as they chose their class motto: "I am not afraid of tomorrow, for I have seen yesterday and I love today."

Taking It As It Comes . . .

Jon Carine delivers a message on his C. B. radio.

Mr. Bradley takes advantage of the new vending machines.

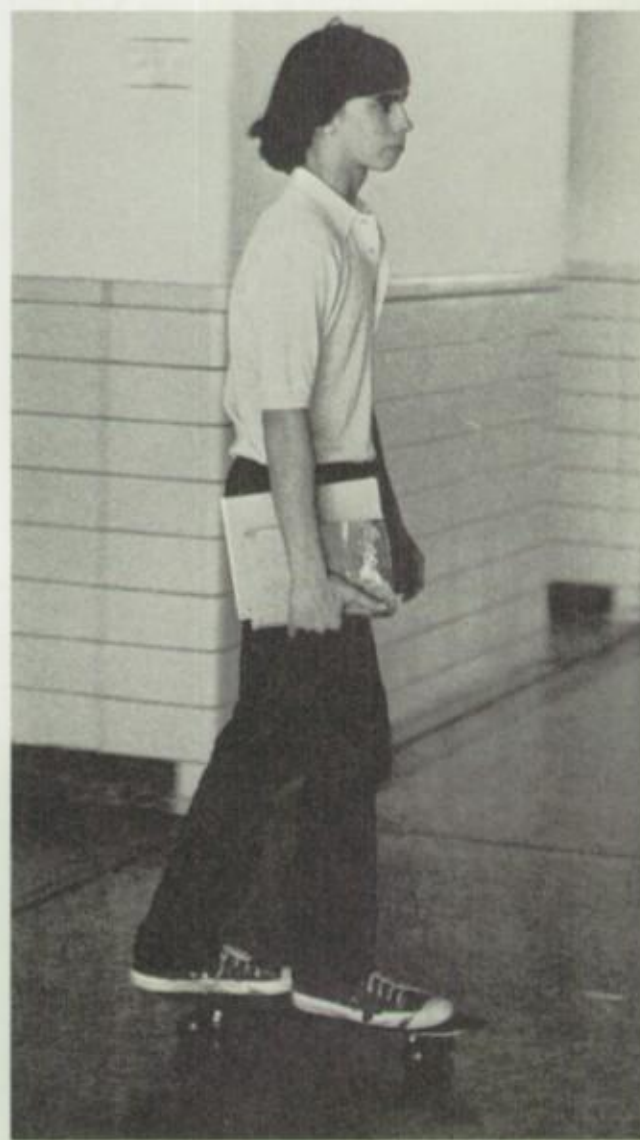

Brian Greenburg catches up on the news.

Key Club discusses plans for Christmas Ball.

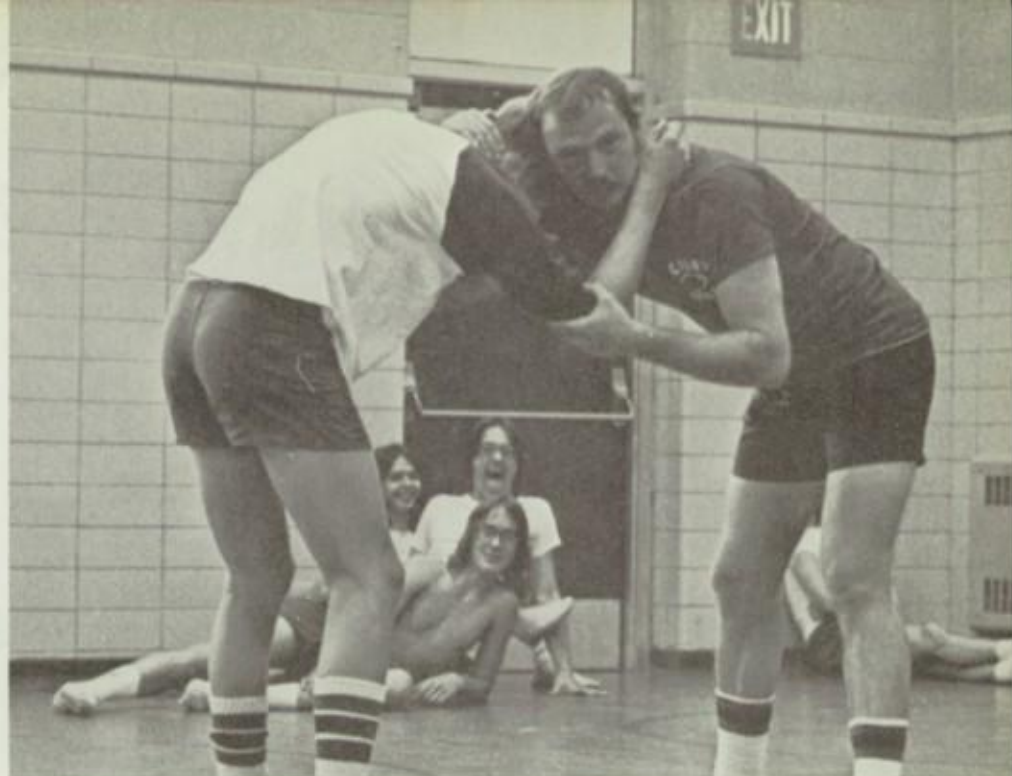

Pat Zolnier puts the devil on the bonfire.

Dave Lane shows a skateboard can get you to class.

Barb Hicks and John Apa play a melody.

Mr. Styduhar shows 'em how to "wrestle."

Dave Wolfe and Ron Prizant buy their milk from Chet Burger.

The spotlight shines as Mr. Edgar Groves directs a concert.

Junior class officers discuss the loss of ice cream sales.

Biology students think on a test.

Another school year has come and gone, and with it there were changes. Vending machines were introduced and cafeteria life was revived. The time between classes was changed so many times that students got used to being either very early or very late.

Students themselves changed from the previous year. They grew up - they matured. Even their dress changed - gauchos, rugby shirts, and frye boots hit it big. Skateboards were even used for students as a way to get to class. Students learned to take the changes as they came along, and discovered that some changes aren't really that bad at all.

Changes Aren't Really That Bad

Cheers, excitement, and confetti reflect spirit.

Students get a chance to get outside during nice weather.

History students engage in classroom clamor.

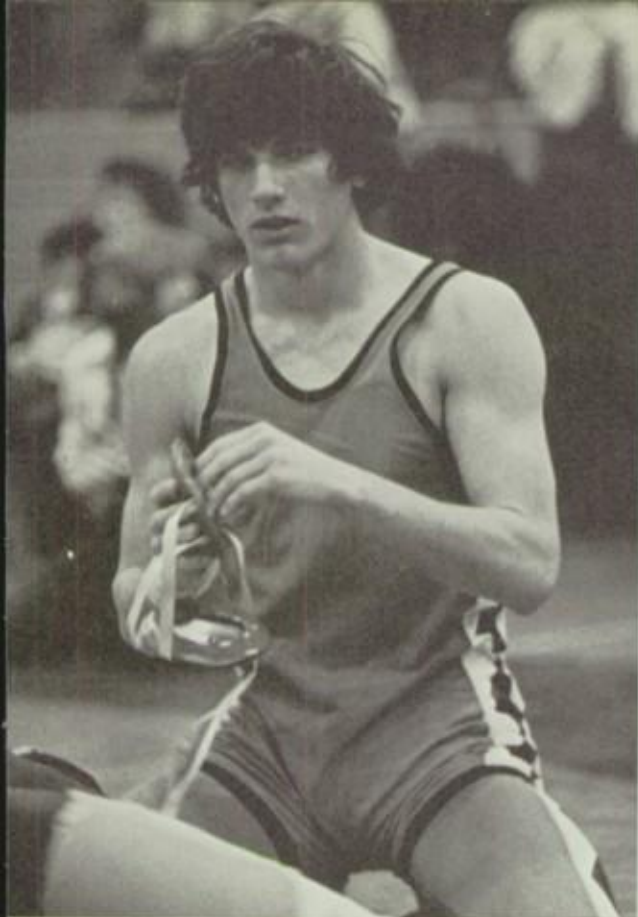

Mr. Uzelas explains a lab experiment to chemistry students.

People enter the high school and graduate. Administrators and teachers come and go. The years pass quickly by, but Hickory and the things it stands for will never change.

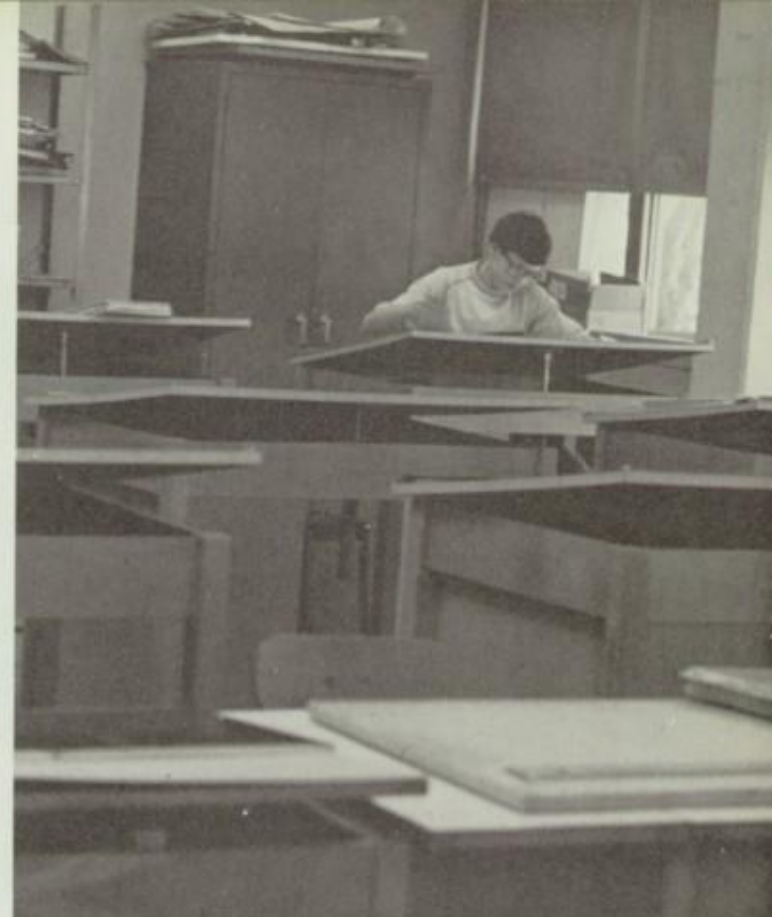

Two cross country shieks get ready for a race.

Vicki Frye does library janitorial work.

Mechanical Drawing takes time and accurate figuring.

Home Ec students decide to add a little more pepper.

Joe Astone and Bob Cameron talk about their sales pitch.

Debbie Baumgartner does a Hi-Karate act.

Typical Day?

Jeff Buchman works on the lathe.

Ron Snyder tries to get a message across.

Robin Reed and Laura Booth chat with Mr. Tupper.

While some work in Home Ec., some play.

Is there ever a typical day at Hickory? From the time when everyone arrives in the morning, through lunch and the end of the day, there probably isn't one person in school who can actually admit that their day was a "typical" one. You can always count on just about anything happening, from an interruption in class to something more exciting like the guys trying to sew in Home Ec. or reffing a chair race down in the cafeteria.

Everyone "converses" in the library.

March 28, 1962 - Oct. 17, 1976
Robert was 14 years old. He was a member of St. Stanislaus Kostka Church, he also played basketball for the junior high.

In Memory

I'll lend you a little time a child of mine He said. For you to love while he lives and mourn for when he's dead. It may be six or seven years or twenty two or three, but will you till I call him back, take care of him for me? I cannot promise he will stay since all the earth return, but there are somethings taught down there I want this child to learn. I've looked the wide world over in my search for the teachers true, and from the throngs that crown life's lands, I have selected you. Now will you give him all your love, not think the labor vain, not hate me when I come to call to take him back again. I fancied that I heard you say, "Dear Lord thy will be done", for all the joy thy child shall bring, the risk of grief will run. We'll shelter him with tenderness; we'll love him while we may and for the happiness we've known, forever grateful stay. But should the angels call for him much sooner than we planned. Will bare the bitter grief that comes and try to understand.

Mac.

You are so crazy!
And I think that's great. You always brighten up my day.
And your one person
I'm really going to miss next year. I hope you never forget me, I know I'll never forget you.
And please remember
Mac not to put your self down! You've got a lot going for you, personality and looks! And I mean
it. Be good and I pray you have a good life. Keep in touch.

Love,
Sandy

Mac,

you've got to be one of the craziest people I know. There's nobody else quite like you. Good luck in the future.

Mac,
A crazy guy
who makes good animal shadows and drinks good beer. See
you at S.V.C.
Joel

Mac,
Remember ~~the~~ So Wild Bunch.
I hope you find real happiness and that God blesses you greatly.
You could really make a living pulling down V-Ball hoops —
if there's a demand. May you always have a good time. But you can be good at the same time really! God be with you Thanks for your faithful fanishness at our games!

Keren

To one of the coolest kids I know - its been a good year for the Cross Country team and you did a good job stay the way you are and you'll go far good luck

Joe Astor

Keren,
I sincerely think that you are the ~~coolest~~ person I've ever met. But its alright. Stay that way. I don't know what you'll be doing after high school, but whatever it is, you'll do it well. Be good this summer, ok?
Love,
Keren

Mac,
So a crazy member
of the Cross Country
team and Warren State Hospital. Don't forget
Mrs Snyder, Mr Habel or Mrs Walker. And
remember a pinch is the best.
Good Luck
